

During the COVID pandemic, Bobbi, a 16-year-old Shih Tzu, came to us from Brooklyn, NY because his elderly owner could no longer care for him. Not having had veterinarian care for two years, he had several issues that required attention including airway disease, skin and ear infections, grooming and vaccinations. At 16, he's still a spry little boy who's made fast friends with other residents and is thriving in our sanctuary.
